DEAR HERALD & COURIER:—As I am a constant reader of your paper, may I take the liberty of writing to you in reference to the dear old state of Vermont? I am a Barnard girl by birth but have lived in Ohio over 35 years. My father, Apollis Warner, settled in that town as early as 1807 and lived there many years but died in Randolph. I read with great interest your paper in regard to all that concerns the good of the state and wish I had the ability as I have the wish to do and say what would keep her sons and daughters from leaving her. They take what money they can get together, go west and alas, wish they had staid in Vermont. I am partial in my views perhaps but the more I read of her resources the more I wonder that her people leave. I have visited my native state several times and have many friends there. My youngest brother, Geo. B. Warner was on the Central Vermont at one time. At one time there were a great number of Vermonters there county (Huron) and there is still living near us a Bethel man 104 years old last Sept., Martin Kellogg by name. If he was as he was at his 100th birthday he would send a greeting to be read at the celebration at Burlington next August, but his mind is gone. He lives that is all. I am in hopes that I may be there myself, but if not shall hope they may have a grand time. Yours Truly,
CORNELIA W. HOWE, Norwalk, Ohio.
It is said that Senator Edmunds tried his first case in an old school house in Willsboro. E. J. Phelps assisted him, and both lawyers got less than $4 for their day's work.

Arranging for a Speedy Trip.
Lecturer (to husband)—Now you're sure your horses are in good condition?
Husband—Oh, yes, sir. Trust me for that.
"Is it only proper for you to know that when I get through my lecture I like to leave the hall in a hurry?"
"Whatever time shall I expect you, sir?"
"Um: ah—well—that will depend a good deal on the audience."—Texas Siftings.

Reconciled.
A boy under six years of age was bemoaning to his mother the escape of one of his white mice, which had disappeared through a hole in the floor of the nursery; but a happy thought struck him, and he seemed reconciled to the loss as he remarked quite cheerfully to her, "Oh, mamma, won't it go among the black mice, just like a missionary to black men?"—London Tit-Bits.

Neglecting His Business.
In one of Addison's plays the undertaker reproves one of his mourners for laughing at a funeral, and says to him:
"You recalc, you! I have been raising your wages for these two years, upon condition that you should appear more sorrowful, and the higher wages you receive the happier you look."

A Heavy Smoker.
De Mascue—Did you say Wings was a heavy smoker? I find that he rarely smokes more than one cigar a day.
St. Agedore—I know. But he weighs 300 pounds.—St. Joseph News.

Works Both Ways.
Old Parrott—My boy, you ought to be like a postage stamp—stick to one place.
Young Flyaway—Humph! What is there that goes around more than postage stamps do?—Judge.

See and Treas.; J. N. Madden, A. H. See and Treas. It was also left to the directors to appoint a salesman. The Dramatic Club met Saturday and decided to have a farce and dance at the hall May day. The admission to the farce is free. Cake will be sold at auction for refreshments.

THE FORUM was on hand in due season, and since its receipt we have had time to take in its contents. It is full of solid reading. There is not a useless page in it. Prof. Goldwin Smith discusses an important moral question. Roger Q. Mills comes to word to say about evolution. Madame de Staël is criticized. The principle upon which the price of railroad tickets is determined in different countries is considered. We notice that Mr. Metcalf has returned from the editorship of the Review and Mr. Page takes his place.

Inland Lakes Increased and Utilized.
It is not generally realized that there are in this country literally millions upon millions of lakes available for water farming, in size all the way from mere ponds to the great inland seas of fresh water. In Illinois alone there are tens of thousands of lakes, and hundreds of thousands more can be readily created. There are in that state hundreds of thousands of extinct lakes which can easily be transformed into sheets of water by the simplest means. All the enormous "Lake Plains" as it is known to geologists, comprising Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, north of the Ohio river, is dotted with countless sheets of water, conditions being abundant for creating a million more by such inexpensive artifices as the damming of streams.

By damming at intervals every creek and rivulet can be made to form artificial lakes. Everywhere in the United States it is pretty much the same, and every acre of this water can be made to produce several times as much food as can be obtained from the most fertile acre of land. Even the vast arid region, the "Great Desert" of the west, is speckled all over with multitudes of extinct lakes which can be filled once more and made to teem again with fish life as they once did.—Washington Star.
